

Entrepreneurship Minor

- ❖ Students in the entrepreneurship minor will not only be exposed to but also master the necessary skills to succeed in the entrepreneurial world.
- ❖ Through coursework in this minor, students will create venture proposals and business plans for start-up ventures and existing businesses.
- ❖ The importance of sound pro-forma financial statements for a new venture will be emphasized, and students will learn how to construct these statements using both primary and secondary data.
- ❖ Team projects will also be emphasized, thus giving students an indication of actual business world work and the expectations that come along with it.
- ❖ The legal responsibilities and potential ramifications of human resources selection will be introduced, along with the techniques used to initiate, analyze, and evaluate staffing.
- ❖ Students will learn the value of effective speaking and writing, and learn to successfully communicate business issues.

Entrepreneurship and YOUR Future

- ❖ Proves invaluable in the launching of venture start-ups and in creating new business models
- ❖ Provides a solid foundation for work in entrepreneurial ventures
- ❖ Allows graduates from the program to bring external entrepreneurial expertise to existing private ventures
- ❖ Gives excellent preparation for professional careers and graduate school
- ❖ Facilitates students' ability to grow existing businesses

Entrepreneurship Courses

- ❖ Management 456: Venture Finance
- ❖ Management 466: Regulation for Small Businesses and New Ventures
- ❖ Management 476: Entrepreneurial Leadership and HRM
- ❖ Management 486: Family Business Management
- ❖ Management 496: Small Business Management

Please consult with an academic advisor in Holman 220 to be sure this can be applied to the major you are currently pursuing.

